THE LAW SCHOOL

The registration for the fall semester of the ninety-sixth session of the Law School of the University of North Carolina is 119, as compared with 125 for 1938-1939, and 103 for 1937-1938. There are 46 in the first year class, 45 in the second year class and 28 in the third year class. The total number of students with college degrees is 85, or 71.4% of the total enrollment. There are eleven students from outside of North Carolina: one each from Alabama, Cuba, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina and Virginia; three from New York, and two from Tennessee.

Professor Robert H. Wettach, who was absent on leave last year, serving as Assistant Attorney-General of North Carolina, has returned to the School. Professor Breck P. McAllister, who served as his substitute, is now visiting professor at the Yale Law School.
