This bibliography includes only contributions appearing in legal, medical, and psychological periodicals published in the United States.

If an article appeared in both a legal and medical periodical, only the legal citation is given.

No criminological material, contractual, or tort liability other than medical malpractice is given.

Medicine includes surgery and psychiatry.

In contributions taken from legal periodicals, the author is given only for articles. No differentiation is made as to contributions appearing in medical periodicals.

The abbreviations for medical periodicals are taken from Index Medicus. The form of citation is different from that in Index Medicus in that the volume number is given before the name of the periodical rather than after the name of the periodical.
