THE LAW REVIEW—With this issue, the LAW REVIEW begins its fifth year. Because of financial assistance from the University, it is possible to send the LAW REVIEW to some fourteen hundred North Carolina lawyers without charge. Consequently, emphasis is placed on North Carolina law and procedure, although it is the purpose of the present Board of Editors to extend the scope of the LAW REVIEW to include the discussion of recent decisions and legal developments in the entire Southeastern part of the United States. Articles of general interest will also be included and important cases of national significance will be the subjects of comment. The responsibility of the student editors is constantly being enlarged, and it is hoped that they will eventually assume control.

THE LAW SCHOOL—Announcement was made in the last issue of the LAW REVIEW of the resignation of Dean Ferson and Professor Rowley and of the election of a new Dean, Abner Leon Green, who is unable to assume active charge this year because of a prior appointment as visiting professor at the Yale University Law School. Professor McIntosh has assumed the duties of Acting Dean. In addition, the following men were elected to the faculty:
Charles Tilford McCormick as Professor of Law. Mr. McCormick is a graduate of the University of Texas (B.A.-1909) and of the Harvard Law School (LL.B. cum laude-1912). He engaged in the general practice of law in Dallas, Texas, from 1912 to 1921. Since then he has been Professor of Law at the University of Texas.

Leland Stanford Forrest as Professor of Law. Mr. Forrest is a graduate of the University of Arkansas (A.B.-1915) and of the University of Michigan Law School (J.D.-1918). He has been Professor of Law at Drake University since 1919 and Dean of that Law School since 1924.

Frederick Bays McCall as Associate Professor of Law. Mr. McCall is a graduate of the University of North Carolina (A.B.-1915). He was a teacher in the Charlotte High School from 1915 to 1918 and principal of that school from 1919 to 1921. During 1921-22, he was an instructor in Latin at the University of North Carolina. He was associated as a teacher in the Law School during 1923-24 and the Summer Session of 1925. Since 1925, Mr. McCall has engaged in the general practice of law in Charlotte, N. C.

The Law School enrollment is very encouraging this year. The largest increase is in the first year class, which enrolled 65 students. This is more than twice the number of last year, when the two-year college requirement for admission went into effect. The students are constantly showing better preparation for the study of law.

In the Law Library, the sets of state reports and English reports are being completed as rapidly as possible, and a number of text books is being added. It is hoped that the Library can continue this necessary expansion.

During the Spring term of last year, under the auspices of the Law School Association, the Law School was addressed by Judge Varser, formerly associate justice of the Supreme Court, who spoke on the subject of civil procedure in the state courts, and by Judge J. C. Biggs, of the Raleigh Bar, who delivered a lecture on Procedure in the Federal Courts, which has since been printed and distributed. These lectures were very valuable for students of law, and it is planned, during the coming year, to continue such lectures by prominent members of the North Carolina Bar.
