

4-1-1944

North Carolina State Bar, The

North Carolina Law Review

Follow this and additional works at: <http://scholarship.law.unc.edu/nclr>

Part of the Law Commons

Recommended Citation

North Carolina Law Review, North Carolina State Bar, The, 22 N.C. L. REV. 261 (1944).

Available at: <http://scholarship.law.unc.edu/nclr/vol22/iss3/5>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Carolina Law Scholarship Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in North Carolina Law Review by an authorized administrator of Carolina Law Scholarship Repository. For more information, please contact law_repository@unc.edu.

THE NORTH CAROLINA STATE BAR

EDWARD L. CANNON, Acting Editor

North Carolina Bar Association Meeting and Tax Institute

The 46th annual meeting of the North Carolina Bar Association will be held in Raleigh on June 16 and 17. This will be the first time that the Bar Association has met in Raleigh since 1899, the year of its organization. At that meeting the late Supreme Court Justice Platt D. Walker was elected the first president.

Preceding the meeting, the Bar Association is sponsoring a Tax Institute, to be presented by the Practicing Law Institute of New York. The dates of this Institute are June 13-16.

The complex Federal tax system has called for a national program by the Bar for tax courses especially designed to answer the needs of practicing attorneys and provide additional working knowledge of income, excess profits, and estate taxes. The courses have been presented successfully in other states and large numbers of the Bar have attended the courses in Baltimore, Chattanooga, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, Richmond and elsewhere. The plans for presenting the Practicing Law Institute and the courses on taxation are being worked out by the Executive Committee of the Bar Association, composed of: Kerr Craige Ramsey of Salisbury, R. E. Thigpen of Charlotte, F. W. Bynum of Rockingham, O. L. Henry of Lumberton, and the Committee on Taxation, composed of R. C. Vaughn, Chairman, and R. E. Thigpen of Charlotte, L. L. Rice, Jr., of Winston-Salem, A. Z. Foster-Wood of Greensboro, W. T. Joyner of Raleigh, John W. Wallace of Statesville, Chas. L. B. Lowndes of Durham, I. M. Bailey of Raleigh, and W. J. Adams, Jr., of Raleigh.

The lecturers in the Tax Institute will be outstanding tax specialists.

The Practicing Law Institute is a non-profit educational institution chartered by the State of New York and has had outstanding success in conducting these courses throughout the country. Participating in the work is the Taxation section of the American Bar Association.

W. Frank Taylor of Goldsboro, President of the Bar Association, will preside over the meetings of the Bar Association on June 16 and 17. Among those on the program will be Joseph W. Henderson, of Philadelphia, President of the American Bar Association. The meetings will be held at the Sir Walter Hotel. Attorneys from neighboring states of Virginia, South Carolina and Tennessee are expected to attend the Tax Institute.